

Comments From Our Clients

The document imaging system has changed our business beyond words. The document search capabilities are invaluable. People wonder what they did before fax machines, and we wonder how we functioned before document imaging. It is user friendly and it pays for its self ten times over. It is WELL worth the investment.

I can't believe how easy the software is to use. It was really the only software I have used that was ready right out of the box. It has never been easier to look up invoices or pick tickets, no more looking through stuffed file cabinets for an invoice only to discover it is not there. With the document imaging software, the invoice is always there when we need it.

The Document Imaging System has considerably reduced costs and labor while projecting a more efficient and professional company.

Implementing IMIGIT™ was a definite win for us. The product truly is out of the box ready. We realized immediate labor savings. We were able to free up 2 full time equivalents in the first month. Our customer statement processing time was reduced from ten days to two. The support from ITG is exemplary.

We used to have two full-time people sorting and compiling invoices every day, and it took three days to complete the end-of-month process. Today, with document imaging, we simply print the statements and invoices together, on the laser printer. There is no more daily compiling, and the end-of-month process has been reduced to less than a day.

Document Imaging has reduced form, storage and labor cost while increasing staff productivity. The software is easy to use, requiring minimum time to train users. We use the system to store not only customer information, but vendor/purchasing and check information. Ask any user in the company to give up Document Imaging and without a doubt, the response will be "no way."

Fast and easier retrieval of invoices and delivery documents has greatly improved customer service in our credit and delivery areas. Last year we added customer web access to our system. Web access allows customers with a access code to retrieve needed copies of invoices or delivery tickets instead of calling Credit or Accounts Receivable.
